DEAR LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

As Aristotle said, "The whole is greater than the sum of its parts."

Finding new business models, investing in them and supporting the development of young companies, that is our goal. We, at push4impact, offer start-ups with innovative ideas extensive opportunities to use us and our international network for successful business development. With push4impact, we focus on new business models and groundbreaking ideas in the areas of digitalisation, life sciences, energy, photonics & automation. At the same time, we are looking for new partners to expand our network.

We would like to get to know you! Are you interested?
Then we would like to invite you to our networking event!

We look forward to seeing you there!
